hings are going from bad to worse for Bruce Jenner. On Feb. 17, a law enforcement source confirmed that police obtained a new video that could show the former Olympian, 65, was clearly at fault for the Malibu highway crash that left a woman dead earlier this month.

Although the video has not been released publicly, sources familiar with it reveal that the footage, taken from a city bus trailing the crash vehicles, shows that Bruce's Cadillac Escalade rear-ended the Lexus driven by Kim Howe, 69, causing it to collide with an oncoming Hummer and resulting in Howe's death. If the contents of the video hold true, Bruce could face vehicular manslaughter charges, which carry a maximum sentence of six years in prison!

"Bruce is a mess over the accident," says an insider. "Not only does he feel awful about what happened, now he's terrified he'll end up in jail."

A NEED FOR SPEED

The video may not be the only proof police officers have. According to locals, Bruce has a reputation for risky road behavior and is known for aggressive driving in his neighborhood. "Bruce drives like a madman," one Malibu resident tells OK! "A few weeks before the crash, he cut me off in that same Escalade. He was extremely dangerous, but he didn't seem to care!"

THE VERDICT

Attorney Darren Kavinoky explains that if the video shows that Bruce directly impacted the Lexus, causing the victim's death, it would prove he was following the car too closely. As a result, he could face either misdemeanor or felony charges. "His actions could fall under either one of the negligence classifications," says Kavinoky. "Ultimately, the details surrounding the incident will determine whether he goes to jail."

WAS IT HIS MISTAKE?

A simulated re-creation of the incident, which sources claim accurately reflects video newly obtained by authorities, shows that Bruce rearended Kim Howe's Lexus as well as a black Prius. Earlier reports stated that Howe hit the Prius first and was then hit by Bruce, propelling her into traffic.

ANDI'S SECRET NIGHT WITH NICK!

on't believe everything you see on TV!
Despite former Bachelorette Andi Dorfman's tearful Feb. 15 sit-down with Chris Harrison for his Chris Tells All special, in which she opened up about her heartbreaking split from winner Josh

Andi and Josh broke off their engagement on Jan. 8.

Murray, in real life, she's not exactly mourning. In fact, just two days earlier, a witness had spotted the pretty brunette at Newport Bar & Grill in Chicago, drinking and dancing the night away with her runner-up, Nick Viall! "I didn't get the feeling that Andi was heartbroken. That's for sure," the source reveals exclusively to OK! "She was all over Nick, leaning her head on his shoulder, hugging him and whispering in his ear. He had his hand on her lap and kept buying her drinks. They seemed like they were having a lot of fun. Andi even danced on the bar!"

News of the pair's reunion is especially shocking, considering how poorly Nick handled rejection after Andi chose Josh over him in the July 2014 finale. During the After the Final Rose special, he humiliated Andi by announcing that they had "made love" during their fantasy suite date. "Andi was disgusted by the way Nick acted following their split and never in her life thought they'd reunite," another source tells OK!. "But truth be told, she's desperate for someone new. Nick is the man of the hour, so we'll just have to see how long this lasts!"

and Nick were spotted flirting over Valentine's Day weekend in Chicago. "She looked like she didn't have a care in the world," says a witness.

They may get to travel the world and attend Hollywood premieres, but sources say the Brangelina brood are begging for one thing that every normal child gets to experience: going to school! Given their parents' hectic schedules, the six kids have been mostly homeschooled — and while Angelina Jolie is a fan of nontraditional education, an insider reveals that Brad Pitt, who had a conventional upbringing in Missouri, is starting to side with the little ones. "He thinks they're missing out on the social experience of school," says the source. "He dreams of taking the boys to their sports games, like his dad did for him." Angie is reportedly starting to come around to the idea too. "She wants the kids to have a normal life, so she's starting to check out strong elementary and high schools in the L.A. area," adds the source.

Last week, Ashton Kutcher ended his four-year stint on Two and a Half Men and, possibly, his run in Tinseltown! Insiders tell OK! that the new dad is considering ditching his acting career for a full-time job in the investment world, where he's already been extremely successful, thanks to backing high-profile start-ups like Spotify and Airbnb. "Having a baby has changed Ashton's outlook on life, and he doesn't want his family to deal with all the drama that comes with Hollywood," says a source. "It's not as if he needs the money the entertainment industry brings anymore, so he's seriously considering working solely on his venture capital firm."

TERESA'S PRISON POUNDS

Time behind bars isn't being kind to Teresa Giudice — or, more specifically, to her waistline. Though she's been incarcerated for only for a month, the Real Housewives of New Jersey star has reportedly gained nearly 15 pounds! "Teresa is comfort eating," says a friend. "She's worrying nonstop about her kids and how she's going to make money once she gets out of prison." The source adds that Teresa's "freshman 15" at Danbury Correctional Institution are the result of high-fat concessions that inmates are allowed to buy. "Instead of eating regular cafeteria food, she's constantly gorging on potato chips and cookies," shares the insider.

CATCHING UP WITH CAMILLE

t's been two years since Camille Grammer left The Reαl Housewives of Beverly Hills, but don't put her down for the count just yet! "I might come back in some capacity," she tells OK! In the meantime, she talks about her life away from the cameras.

It's been more than a year since your surgery for endometrial cancer. How are you feeling these days?

I finished treatment on Jan. 3, 2014, so I'm a year in remission, and I'm feeling great! My friends had really rallied around me, so we had a fun reunion in Hawaii for New Year's.

Are you on better terms with your ex, Kelsey Grammer?
We don't speak. He still won't speak to me.

What's going on with your love life?

I have friends. I'm not serious with anybody. I don't think I'm ready just yet. And I really have to say, I'm enjoying my life being single! In the past, I've always been married or in a long-term relationship, so I'm enjoying dating.

Would you get married again?

That's a big question, because I was asked right before my birthday a couple of years ago. He told everybody in my house that he was getting me a ring. It was a big discussion, and I just couldn't say yes. I wasn't ready.

mid the party atmosphere of Mardi Gras, Sandra Bullock cut loose and revealed a new love! The Oscar-winning actress, 50, openly snuggled up to comedian Michael McDonald, her costar in the 2013 cop movie The Heat, at New Orleans' legendary annual festival, as thousands of revelers looked on.

Michael, also 50, starred for years on MADtv and had small roles in each of the Austin Powers movies. He and Sandy are longtime friends, but a source says their relationship recently turned romantic.

"They've been close for years," the source says, adding that Michael was Sandra's "shoulder to cry on" during her heartbreaking split from husband Jesse James, after his numerous infidelities came to light in 2010, while they were in the process of adopting her son, Louis, 5.

"Not surprisingly, Sandra has had plenty of trust issues since the whole Jesse debacle," says the source. "But she trusts Michael implicitly. She's finally starting to realize he's much more than just a friend."

New Orleans has always had a romantic appeal for Sandra. She bought a historic home in the city in 2009 and adopted Louisianaborn Louis there a year later. With Michael and some other close friends on hand for the Fat Tuesday festivities — including Chelsea Handler, Whitney Cummings and Camila Alves — she appeared to be completely at ease and truly in her element, the happiest her fans have seen Sandy in a long time.

"It's early days, but Sandra is so happy," says the source. "She's such a private person, so showing off her romance in front of her friends says a lot about what Michael must mean to her. Even though she's nervous about where this might go, she's excited more than anything."

Jessa Duggar and Ben Seewald have been married for almost four months, and she's not pregnant yet. While that might not be a big deal for some women, for the superfertile Duggars, stars of 19 Kids and Counting, it's a major cause for concern! A source says the couple are so shocked that Jessa, 22, isn't with child, they're considering visiting a fertility doctor – against the family's religious beliefs.

hile Jessica Alba recently wrapped four movies scheduled for release over the next year, simultaneously heading up her billion-dollar eco-friendly baby goods brand, The Honest Company, her "producer" husband Cash Warren hasn't made a film in years (unless you count a limited-release action flick in 2014). Now friends of the 33-year-old actress say her hubby's lazy ways are getting on her last nerve!

Jessica's rep denies it, but a source says, "Jessica feels like she is single-handedly supporting her family while Cash sits around and does nothing."

Cash, 36, was working as a production assistant when the couple met in 2004. But in the 11 years since, he's only worked on a half dozen projects. "Jessica has laid down the law: Cash needs to find work quick - or else," says the source. "He's tired of her nagging but deep down knows he deserves it."

Jessica BANS JUSTIN FROM DELIVERY ROOM!

Justin Timberlake wants to be beside wife Jessica Biel when she gives birth to their first child in a few weeks - but Jess, 32, says no way! A source says the gorgeous star is terrified for her hubby to see her in pain and looking awful. "Justin keeps telling her he thinks she'll look beautiful and he just wants to support her on the most important day of their lives," says the source. "But Jess is insisting she'd rather have a close friend be there to hold her hand. Her resistance is causing a lot nearly four-year marriage is losing its mojo – no matter how hard LeAnn works at it! Just before Valentine's Day, LeAnn, 32, was spotted at Victoria's Secret in L.A. loading up on $1,000 worth of peekaboo lingerie and scented candles to help light a fire under her disinterested hubby. But somehow. Eddie. 41. was able to resist! "He invited their friends to what was supposed to be an intimate beach getaway that weekend," says a source. "It's like he doesn't even want to be alone with his wife."

Leo DISSES RIHANNA!

What kind of guy thinks Rihanna is nothing special? Leonardo DiCaprio, that's who! The notorious modelizer was spotted partying the New York City night away with RiRi, 27, at a club on Valentine's Day. But to Leo, she's just another conquest.

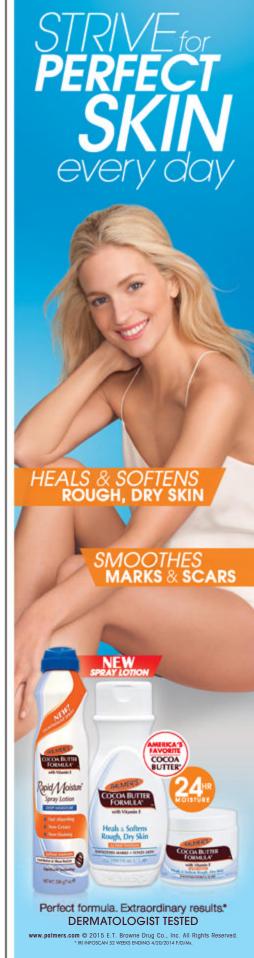

"He was telling anyone who would listen that he wasn't with Rihanna – he was with everybody," says a source. "She was standing a few feet away the whole time!" Though the pair were reportedly caught kissing at the Playboy Mansion last month, Leo, 40, seemed totally uninterested during their night at Up & Down nightclub, which lasted until 4 AM.

"She was practically throwing herself at him, flirting and dancing, but he was looking around for something better," says an eyewitness.

And while he's playing the field, a source says Rihanna is smitten: "She thinks it's real. She's going to get her heart broken."

CALL COVER STORY

hat a difference a year makes! Just last spring, a single Cameron Diaz, 42, was in no rush to get married, have babies or, for that matter, tick off any life boxes that sounded the least bit conventional.

Look at her now! After a whirlwind seven-month courtship with rocker Benji Madden, 35, the couple are married, blissfully in love, and buzz is flying that Cam is pregnant... with twins! "It's going to be double trouble," says a source close to the couple. "Cameron always said if she ever had kids, she'd want two — she just never expected them at the same time!"

A NEW ATTITUDE

Some would say she never expected them at all. Last April, after years of giving interviews about wanting to live an untethered life, free from "old traditions that don't suit our world any longer," Cam reiterated that she was in no hurry to have babies: "If I wanted kids, at any point in life, I would have them," she declared. Months later, even after she and Benji had gotten together, she admitted that kids may not be in the cards. "It's so much more work to have children," she said, adding, "I was never drawn to being a mother."

But friends say that her perspective has changed dramatically since falling in love with Benji, whom she called out at her Jan. 5 wedding with an effusive toast: "I didn't want to settle," she said. "Now I've got the best man ever. My special man. He's mine."

The newlyweds had extra reason to

FOLLOW THE SIGNS

Benji, a hands-on uncle to Harlow, 7, and Sparrow, 5 — his twin brother Joel's kids with wife Nicole Richie — has been open about his desire for a brood of his own. "It's what every man wants," he said last year.

"Benji's a natural with kids underneath that tattooed-rock-star exterior lies an absolute softie," says the insider, adding that while Cam's news was sudden, it was met with nothing but pure delight. "Benji is superexcited at the prospect of twins," says a source. "As a twin himself, he wasn't panicked when he learned that Cam suspects she's having multiples — he was ecstatic!"

Cam's suspicions were sparked by a combo of rapid weight gain and vicious morning sickness. "She's been gaining weight, which she knows is just part of expecting a child," says an insider. "But she feels she's packing on pounds pretty quickly, especially considering how in shape she is. She was googling 'weight gain in the first trimester' and read that women having multiples gain earlier than those who are only having one child." The source adds, "She's also been suffering quite badly from morning sickness, and that's another sign she could be having more than one. It all started to come together."

OAM'S BABY ADVISORS

Both happily aboard the baby trains moms of two Nicole Richie and Drew Barrymore (AKA Cam's besties) haven't officially heard the news – but they have plenty of reason to suspect. "Drew must know what's going on, because Cameron calls her every day asking where to buy the cutest baby clothes or how much sleep a person can survive on," says an insider. "And Nicole laughs about it too, because Cam's been asking her the same sorts of things. Joel hasn't asked Benji outright, but it's pretty obvious. Nicole and Joel can't stop talking about it."

FUTURE PERFECT

The happy newlyweds have wasted no time getting babyready. During a mid-January shopping trip at West Hollywood baby boutique Petit Trésor, "Cameron was showing Benji stuff she liked, from toys to cribs," says a witness. "It seemed like they were getting ideas for their own nursery. She was going nuts over some of the baby clothes and there was definitely a glow about her."

In addition to being on hand for crib shopping, Benji's proven himself a steadfast support system; sources say he has a wealth of baby info and has been guiding an apprehensive Cam through every step. "The thought of twins has been a little daunting for Cameron — though she's said she's girl," says a source. "But Benji is so enthusiastic; he's read up on what to expect and is helping to put her at ease. He MULTIPLE BABIES, HE keeps telling her that once WAS ECSTATIC she holds her babies, instinct will kick in and she'll know exactly

For someone who's been ambivalent about marriage and babies in the past, Cam has made a seamless transition to family planner. "Cam and Benji know most people spend years together before children come into their lives," says an insider. "But who's to say that's the right way to do things? They both knew that, at 42, Cameron didn't have a lot of time to waste. She's constantly saying, 'I never dreamed I could be this happy."

here's nothing like a few intense sex scenes to bring actors closer together. And though it took Jamie Dornan and Dakota Johnson a while to warm up to each other, sources say that by the end of their shoot, the Fifty Shades of Grey costars were very much on the same wavelength. Now, as they tour the globe discussing how intimate filming was, it's clear they share a special bond (so to speak). "They can't get the other out of their minds," says an insider. "The more comfortable they became on set, the closer they grew emotionally. It was great for the movie — but not for their real lives."

not wearing much, and I had to do stuff to her that I'd never choose to do to a woman," Jamie, 32, said. "I felt very protective." When the cameras weren't rolling, "Jamie would be the first one to throw a blanket over me," added Dakota, 25. "He is incredible, really trustworthy," she's also said.

Reps for both actors deny it, but the insider says that by the time they got to the final scenes in the "Red Room of Pain," their connection was real — and operating on a deeper level than either of them wanted to admit.

But they know they're in dangerous territory." With two seguels on the horizon, it remains to be seen how long they can keep their feelings at bay. OK!

THEIR GROWING FEELINGS

The attraction between Jamie (who is married to actress-singer Amelia Warner and has a 15-month-old daughter, Dulcie) and Dakota (who has been linked with rocker Matthew Hitt) was far from immediate. "The ironic thing is there was absolutely no chemistry when they first got on set," says a source. "It was so bad, it was actually a concern for the filmmakers."

"He put his foot down and told her he's ready to file."

SO OVER IT?

After a decade of marriage, Gwyneth, 42, and Chris, 37, didn't quite leap headfirst into their separation. Instead, they took teensy baby steps: Just days after their muchpublicized announcement last March, the pair jetted off with their kids for a family vacation in the Bahamas. In October, Chris threw Gwyneth a starstudded 42nd-birthday party, and witnesses said they spent the evening casually hanging and laughing, as though nothing had changed.

Gwyneth has given several interviews about how well she and Chris are handling the new arrangement, admitting, "We're really close. It's nice. I feel like it's the relationship we were meant to have." She's described their separation as "always a moving, amorphous thing" — as though it's anything but final. And in a magazine interview last month, she came right out and said that some days, she regrets their decision to uncouple. "There are times when I think it would have been better if we had staved married," she said.

That certainly seemed to be her sentiment this past Valentine's Day, when the Martin-Paltrow clan enjoyed a beach day in Malibu, with Gwyneth and Chris strolling arm in arm. But as picture-perfect — and confusing — as their beach day appeared, insiders say that was the day Chris threw down the gauntlet. "It wasn't a fight," says a source.

YOU AGAIN?

SURPRISE! GWYN AND CHRIS KEEP MAKING CAMEOS AT EACH OTHER'S EVENTS

"He simply sat Gwyn down and asked, 'What are we waiting for?' She gave the same excuses she's been giving for months, saying the kids had to be ready and that these things take time. But the underlying reason is, she doesn't want to lose control."

It's not fair that she can still have such an impact on his love life, even though they've supposedly split." But while Gwyneth clings to her old life, sources says she knows Chris is "not bluffing. He's been in touch with a lawyer, and it wouldn't be surprising if papers are drawn this month. It's time they both moved on with their lives."

THE EMMY-WINNING SOAP STAR UPS THE GLAMOUR — AND CLASS — ON THE REAL HOUSEWIVES OF

s a major soap opera star for more than three decades, Eileen Davidson has seen her share of drama. But the actress, 55, insists that her roles on The Young and the Restless and Days of Our Lives (for which she won a Daytime Emmy last year) — including the comically unstable, bucktoothed Susan — don't hold a candle to the histrionics she's come across as the newest cast member of The Real Housewives of Beverly Hills. "I'm used to leaving my character at the studio once I'm finished filming," she says. "But this is my real life. I can't run away from it! Dealing with the insults that are thrown at you can be difficult."

Most of those insults, naturally, have come from professional potstirrer Brandi Glanville, whose transgressions this season have included trash-talking about Eileen's home and throwing a glass of wine in her face. Eileen, often the voice of reason amidst the hysterics, talked to OK! about surviving the catfights unscathed.

What's been your biggest challenge as a housewife so far? Dealing with personalities I wouldn't necessarily handle in real life!

Brandi comes to mind...

Brandi can be a handful — I think everyone knows that. When someone throws wine in your face, it's shocking. I'd only been filming for a week at that point! I was like, Oh, OK. This is how it's going to be.

If you could give Brandi any advice, what would it be?

I'm hesitant to give advice, but I'd tell her to take responsibility for her choices. To be kind and use a more gentle approach. It seems everything you do is misconstrued by her.

Did you have any idea your poker party would end with grown women pushing and screaming in your driveway?

No! I didn't think it was going to get so out of hand, because I'm stupid and naive! My husband [actor Vincent Van Patten] is a professional poker player. I just thought it would be cool to give these women a tutorial.

With Vince, you have two stepsons and one son. How's life with all boys?

It's a great balance. Sometimes I feel left out of their male bonding, but women can be a little crazy — being a Housewife made me realize that!

SERVES: 4 TOTAL TIME: 20 MIN. SKILL LEVEL

Ingredients

- 2 lbs. Brussels sprouts
- 3 to 4 tbsp. extra virgin olive oil
- 1 tsp. kosher salt
- · 1tsp. freshly ground black pepper
- Balsamic vinegar, to taste

Directions

- 1. Preheat oven to 415°F.
- 2. Rinse Brussels sprouts, cut off ends and pull off outer leaves.
- 3. Separate remaining leaves from each sprout.
- 4. Place leaves in large mixing bowl. Drizzle with olive oil, then add salt and pepper.
- 5. Pour leaves onto sheet pan covered with foil. Roast about 5 minutes, shaking pan periodically to brown evenly, until crisp on the outside and tender on the inside. Keep an eye on them, as they crisp quickly.

When he suggested they try sombré, a softer take on the prevalent ombré trend (subtle + ombré = sombré), she agreed. "I'd never heard of it, but I was interested instantly because it offers more of a natural feel," she explains. It's also extremely versatile. "It works beautifully on all hair colors," says Denis, who touts minimum upkeep as another selling point for the style. "You can go eight weeks between salon visits." Jamie was thrilled with the results. "I love it! It really accentuates the golden tones in my skin," she says.

"I don't like the stuffy updo look. I'm

"I want something more fitted and

As for the affair itself, "it's blown past the point of keeping the guest number to something intimate," says Jamie. "I'm just going to embrace the fact that we're going to have a very big wedding." And while she won't confirm the exact location, she does divulge that it will be "outdoors and whimsical."
